

ECCLESIASTICAL REBUTTAL OF UNLAWFUL CITATION

Date: July 28, 2025

To: Booneville District Court, Logan County Courthouse

And: Arkansas State Police Troop H

RE: Citation No. 600A2156597 issued to the Legal Fiction
"JONATHAN DANIEL CLEMENTS"

To Whom It May Concern,

This rebuttal is issued under Divine Law, Ecclesiastical Equity, and Natural Law, by ✠ Jonathan Daniel Clements, Living Man and Living Trustee of the Ecclesiastical Sovereign Private Trust of Humanity (ECC-TRUST-JDC-005).

The citation referenced above is fully and lawfully rebutted, and all presumed authority to enforce or pursue this matter is hereby extinguished.

1. There Is No Legal Violation

The citation alleges a statutory infraction under Arkansas Code §27-36-216. No contract exists. No crime has been committed. No injured party exists. No oath-bound jurisdictional claim has been made.

The citation is null and void. The enforcement action occurred under color of law, without standing, and in violation of the rights and protections afforded to me as a living man under divine jurisdiction.

2. The Conveyance Is Ecclesiastical Trust Property

The conveyance in question was lawfully acquired in Kansas on July 17, 2025, and immediately absorbed into the Ecclesiastical Sovereign Private Trust of Humanity.

This conveyance is not commercial, not under contract, and not within corporate jurisdiction. All equity and lawful title are now held by the Trust, and no statutory body may make claim, compel compliance, or presume authority over said property.

3. Trust Jurisdiction Was Already Delivered That Same Day

At the time this citation was issued—July 18, 2025—the trust had already been:

- Lodged into Greenwood Court (Sebastian County)
- Delivered to the Sebastian County Sheriff's Office
- Served upon the Roman Catholic Diocese (Ecclesiastical Seat)

This occurred within the same hour prior to the citation. The citation was issued while I was returning to sanctuary. Jurisdiction had already been delivered. Silence from every party served stands as lawful agreement.

4. Lawful Instruments Were Refused by Officer

During the stop, I attempted to deliver lawful ecclesiastical instruments:

- Affidavit of Status and Standing
- Ecclesiastical Notice of Trust Jurisdiction
- Living Man Identity Declaration
- Trust Placement of Conveyance

Sgt. Derek Neisert refused the paperwork. Rather than receive the notice or honor the trust jurisdiction, he walked around to the rear of the vehicle, pointed out that the brake lights were out, and proceeded to issue a citation.

The lights were later confirmed to be out due to a blown fuse—a matter of no lawful consequence and not a crime. There was no intent, no harm, and no violation.

5. Jurisdiction Is Rebutted and Closed

This citation was addressed to a legal fiction: "JONATHAN DANIEL CLEMENTS." That corporate entity does not represent me. I am not subject to statutory interpretation or presumption.

I do not operate in commerce.

I do not consent to fictitious authority.

I do not yield to artificial jurisdiction.

I do not waive my divine standing.

I am alive, sovereign, and protected.

All lawful rebuttals have been filed. No rebuttal has ever been returned. The trust holds full jurisdiction, and your silence affirms it.

6. Final Notice and Cease and Desist

You are hereby ordered to cease and desist from all attempts to process, enforce, collect, or summon regarding this matter.

To proceed would be:

- A trespass on divine jurisdiction
- A fraud under color of law
- A dishonor to lawful notice
- A coercive act without standing

This rebuttal is now recorded, irrevocable, and lawfully binding.

By full authority and breath of life,

✠ Jonathan Daniel Clements
